OUT ON THE LIMB with George Vierhus

FROM THE CONFUSED rumor department...At a recent Chamber of Commerce luncheon meeting we became a little confused at a point raised by Tom State during a discussion on the city hall clock tower project.

Tom wondered out loud why the tower at the city hall had not been painted before it had been erected.

He said he had been asked that question by a party who submitted that it looked like it would be a difficult task to climb that pole now with a paint bucket in hand.

It turned out that Tom and the guy had their towers mixed.

The antenna tower for the communications system planned after the new city hall is completed, is now in place.

It's pretty high and mighty skinny, it must be admitted.

But the material for the city hall clock tower that has become a communitywide project has not even been purchased.

What time is it anyway?

THOUSANDS OF WORDS come off this typewriter of ours each week, as you are well aware. However, we are the first to admit that most of them will not make any particular dent in the literary world and only on rare occasions will our weekly verbal output be remembered for more than a day or so, if that long.

That's to be expected. It is a sort of occupational hazard that we have learned to live with.

Which brings us to the point that we are always pleased when one of our contempories gets "something published".

We don't mean by that the stuff th at appears in The Campbell Press is not being "published"....What we mean is that the phrase "something published" has a different ring to it.

The cash register kind to be exact.

WE HAVE JUST LEARNed that Fran Clever, who was associated with The Press for some time and who now with her husband, Chet, is operating a motel in El Cerrito, has sold another article.

In the March issue of the "Appaloosa News", a magazine circulated nationwide among "horse people", appears "A Foal Is Born" by Fran Clever. In the article Fran cleverly describes her experiences when she was forced in an emergency to act as a mid-wife for the first time in a stable when the time came for the mare, which the Clevers owned, to give birth to a foal.

In her article she pays particular credit to Dr. Karl White, a local veterinarian, who issued instructions via the phone which made it possible for Fran to accomplish her mission.

We are pleased and proud that one of the alumnae of The Press has scored again in the writing field. Nice going, Fran.

We would like to think that her training while with us has been some help.

It just could be, you know, although there are some of you who might have different thoughts on the subject.

It is nice to know that people DO get money for writing.

Come to think of it, there have been a number of columns that we have turned out that might have been worth something.

That is, if we hadn't written 'em.

Deaths of two boys from exploding shell stresses danger of "souvenirs"

Tragedy strikes while Campbell youngsters play with lethal relic

An exploding shell that took the lives of two Campbell youngsters last Wednesday and seriously injured a third, has made the community acutely aware, in a tragic manner, of potential lethal weapons that exist in yards and homes in the guise of war relics.

Following the appeal of Police Sgt. Ron Eddlemon, the investigating officer of the tragic deaths last Wednesday of Randy Owens, 10, and his brother, David, 9. sons of John Owens, of 829 Century Court, Campbell, varied examples of shells and weapons have been brought to the police department by concerned citizens.

The police will turn over the items to Army ordnance experts.

Seriously injured in the blast caused by an explosion of a 40mm antiaircraft shell was Jonathan (Jackie) Martin, 7, son of Mrs. Joyce Marlow, of 421 Century Dr., Campbell. Jackie is recovering in Stanford Hospital and is not expected to lose his sight, as was first feared. He has numerous cuts and burns as a result of the explosion but is recovering satisfactorily.

Funeral services for Jackie's two playmates, Randy and David Owens, were held Monday in Baltimore, Maryland, where the bodies of the two boys were shipped. Campbell Memorial Chapel was in charge of the interim arrangements.

In addition to their father, the two boys are survived by a sister and brother. The parents are divorced and the mother is residing in Maryland.

The father of the boys, John Owens, is employed by the Xerox Corp. in San Jose and came to the area in June, 1970. In Nov. 1969 they had moved to Los Angeles from Laurel, Md.

Fellow employees of Owens at Xerox have contributed to a fund to assist the family.

The Hazelwood Home and School Club has also started an "Owen's Fund". Members of the club were asked to contribute to the fund in a letter from the executive board signed by Ron Clancey, club president.

The letter also urged parents to clear their homes and premises of all dangerous articles, as has been requested by the police.

The Owens' brothers and Jackie Martin all attended Hazelwood School. Randy, who was born in Ft. George G. Meade, Md. was a fifth grader and David, who was born in Portsmouth, Va., was in the third grade.

RANDY OWENS

DAVID OWENS

According to Sgt. Eddlemon, the shell exploded on the concrete top of a brick pillar at 788 Century Ct. and the resulting explosion sent jagged bits of metal into both boys.

The three boys had been pounding the shell head on the fence and Eddlemon thinks the pounding may have loosened the detonator of what was described as a war souvenir.

In reconstructing the tragedy, Sgt. Eddlemon learned that the shell had been brought to school by a fourth boy who had given it to the Martin boy. The boy who had brought the shell to school was not with the other three youngsters at the time of the explosion.

Police Captain Don Burr, acting police chief, said that the department had learned where the youngster had obtained the shell and had reported the findings to the district attorney's office. He added that the DA's office felt there was no basis for criminal charges and that the police department considers the case closed.

Lethal bombs and shells are being turned in not only to the Campbell police but to other law enforcement agencies throughout the area.

Locally four or five bombs have been turned in daily as well as less dangerous items, even including rifle and shotgun shells.

The flow of shells and weapons continues at a brisk pace even after a week has gone by since the tragedy.

Police point out that the potential for tragedy is never far away and can even be found among innocent-appearing war trophies or at the bottom of a trash can.

POTENTIALLY DANGEROUS -- Police Capt. Don Burr, acting police chief, points to the fragments of the 40mm shell that exploded last Wednesday, snuffing out the lives of two Campbell boys, Randy and David Owens, 10 a.1 9 years old. A third youngster was seriously injured in the blast.

Piled on the desk in front of Capt. Burr are the many war souvenir shells and bombs that have been turned into the police department since the tragedy. The flow of shells and weapons began after the police had appealed for citizens to surrender their war relics and trophies because of the potential danger that exists in having them around the house.

COUNCIL MEETS MONDAY

New trash pickup rates face city

Towing, trash and salaries will concern the City Council at the meeting next Monday, March 22.

The Council will hold a hearing on the appeal from Cal Towing of San Jose on the denial by the Campbell Police Department of that towing firm's application to do business in Campbell.

Police Capt. Don Burr, acting chief, is expected to be present to defend his department's rejection of Cal Towing's application. The firm, owned by LaVern P. Lapp, is scheduled to be represented by Wesley W. Overson, San Jose attorney.

Because of the many hassles that have developed over towing incidents, the City Council recently adopted new regulations and set a uniform fee schedule. The police chief has the authority to deny applications subject to appeal to the Council.

Capt. Burr will report on the complaints that have been registered in the past against the San Jose firm. At the present, only two local firms have been authorized to do tow-away jobs.

The trash item on the agenda concerns the request of Green Valley Disposal for a 15-year extension to the present 10-year contract which is to expire this year.

The request includes a recommendation for increased rates by the disposal firm. The suggested fee would raise a single can pickup from the present $1.50 to $1.75 per month and each extra can would increase to $1.10 from

Recall of two trustees enters final phase

Recall action against Mrs. Eleanor Graham - Armstrong and Ralph Steinberg as trustees of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District is in full swing and is now entering its final phase toward completion, two recall committee officials reported this week.

Dale Hume, general chairman, and Ed Wood, precinct chairman of the recall group, indicated that some people may have received the wrong impression from a statement made by Steinberg at the last board meeting.

The statement, approved by the board majority of three and then distributed to all employees of the district, referred to the "timing" of Neal Royer's "delayed response which comes on the heels of the failure of the recall movement to meet its declared objective of ousting Board Members Eleanor Graham-Armstrong and Ralph J. Steinberg before the filing deadline for the April 20 Board Election...."

Hume and Wood emphasized it is expected that sufficient valid signatures will be obtained to meet the deadline for filing with the County Registrar of Voters on April 16.

They added that any voter ie the district wanting a carrier to bring a recall petition to his residence for signature should call any of the following numbers: 378-7567; 378-0487; 354-8608; 379-8200.

Vacancies exist

Applications from citizens interested in serving on the Planning Commission will be accepted at the city hall up to 5 p.m. on Monday, March 22, City Manager Bob Stephens reports.

At the City Council meeting that evening, a schedule for interviewing the prospective commissioners will be set.

Two vacancies now exist on the Planning Commission because of the termination of the services of Jack Healey and Frank Klein.

The Council hopes to make the appointments before Monday, March 29, when a joint study session with the Council and Planning Commission has been scheduled.

Police auction grosses $2584

Proceeds from the semi-annual police auction held last Saturday totalled $2,584, it was reported this week.

Of this amount, three police cars that were on the block brought in $1720. Two of the cars had a $600 minimum bid requirement and the other had a $300. One of the cars brought $690, another $660 and the third $370.

According to Sgt. John B. Butler, who conducted the sale, there were 51 bikes sold ranging from $4.55 to $30.

New Campbell High class program could help "unify" student body

Students at Campbell High School will swing into a new class schedule next week, with strong emphasis on unifying the student body, according to Bob Peck, principal.

Peck said that no outside schedules will change and students will continue to attend from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., but within the school an experimental program will be taking place.

The new program, which has strong support from students and faculty, will feature a unique hour-long lunch period during which counseling services, tutorial program, student activities and intramural activities may be scheduled.

Previously many students were unable to participate in certain activities because their busing schedule could not get them to school early or wait for them after school.

(Campbell must vie with every other high school in the district for bus service. Campbell and three other schools start at 8 and end at 2:30 while other district schools go on an 8:30 to 3:00 day.)

The new program, which snips five minutes off each of the six regular class periods and puts them with the former 30-minute lunch hour, is being tried on a three-week temporary basis to allow evaluations from students and faculty.

Student council board meetings which previously could only be held during class times can now be held at times which will allow larger audiences and will mean that none of the students will miss valuable classroom time.

Students who are concerned about their future may use time to meet with counselors, or obtain advice from their teachers.

Student leaders and faculty have expressed the hope that the enlarged program will allow them more time to work together and for the students to work with each other.

"CAMPBELL'S PLACE IN THE 70'S"

Five panels feature annual Congress March 27

"Campbell's Place in the 70's", the theme of the fifth annual Congress for Community Progress, will be carried out by the various panels that are scheduled for the day, according to the Rev. W.H. (Ben) Gould, who is serving as chairman for the fourth time.

The Congress will be held at West Valley College on Saturday, March 27.

Kicking off the Congress for the fourth time is William (Bill) Siden, of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., who has traditionally brought blushes and grins to the faces of his audience with his annual presentation of slides showing how Campbell looks to him.

The day's schedule will commence with registration and coffee at 8:30 a.m., followed by a general assembly at 9 a.m.

At 9:50 the audience will be dismissed to attend the panel of their choice to discuss and make recommendations to the general Congress in the afternoon sessions.

Lunch will be served at noon in the cafeteria of Campbell High School across from the college.

Keynote speaker at the lunch will be Rusty Hammer, a student at Del Mar High School and chairman of Campbell's Youth Advisory Commission.

Participants in the day-long discussion are not limited to Campbell residents but may be those who live in the greater Campbell area, work in Campbell, own property here, or who are members of local clubs and service groups.

The panels, which will be conducted, include ecology, taxation, education and law and justice.

Heading the law and justice committee is Police Captain Don Burr, acting chief of police. His panel will include Judge Ed Taylor of the Los Gatos-Campbell-Saratoga Municipal Court; Ed Christiani, administrative aide to Assemblyman John Vasconcellos and Bob Dempster, Campbell's new city attorney and Rusty Hammer.

(Registration form for Congress appears on Page 9 of this issue.)

Ticking ahead with the clock tower

Tickets are still available for the benefit premiere and champagne reception on Wednesday, March 31, when "New Leaf", starring Walter Mathau and Elaine May, will be shown at the Plaza Theatre.

Dave Valkenaar heads the communitywide committee for the big event which will benefit the city hall clock tower fund.

Donations for the affair are $6 per person, which includes the champagne reception at 7:30 p.m. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

Service clubs and other organizations have taken blocks of tickets in this civic project to raise the necessary funds to construct the clock tower at the new city hall which is estimated to cost $5,000.

In the meantime, two more kiddie matinees are scheduled at the Plaza Theatre with funds from the Saturday shows also going into the clock tower fund. Tickets at the door on the two Saturdays that remain of the original package of six shows sell for 75 cents.

There are two showings this Saturday, March 20, and the following Saturday, March 27. The movies will be shown at 10:30 and 12:30.

Editorial

Judge for yourself

With the release of the charges that three members of the board of trustees of the Campbell Union (elementary) School District used as their basis for the demotion of Superintendent Neal Royer to principal on Oct. 8, 1970, the air has now been somewhat cleared of most of the innuendos, implications and whispered accusations.

The charges were contained in a letter to Royer, dated Jan. 19, 1971, over the signature of Dr. Richard MacQuiddy, board president, who apparently was representing his fellow board members, Ralph Steinberg and Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong, who composed the three vote demotion majority.

The letter was published in its entirety in last week's Campbell Press with a letter from Royer that answered the charges point-by-point.

"It's about time" was the general reaction from concerned citizens, as well as The Campbell Press.

More than 100 days had elapsed from the time of the demotion before the reasons for the drastic action were announced publicly.

And the charges were not made public until after Royer had filed suit against the district for reinstatement, based on the fact that no written reasons had been given for the demotion despite his repeated requests.

Now the reasons have been made public, and although it is possible that a court eventually might have to decide whether the reasons have any sufficiency, the public now has an opportunity to judge whether the reasons given by the three board members have validity.

It first must be emphasized that the board's action was not one of minor consequence.

Superintendent Royer had two years to go on his second four-year contract with the district at an annual salary of approximately $30,000.

Apparently the three board members were convinced that their reasons were not sufficient to warrant Royer's dismissal, so they went the demotion route which, in no way, affected the contract that and still is in force.

In our opinion, the three members of the board, MacQuiddy, Steinberg and Mrs. Eleanor Graham-Armstrong, in voting for Royer's demotion, acted in an irresponsible manner. They did not take into consideration that the demotion of a superintendent is not something that can be done for spite or to satisfy one's ego, if they have the welfare of the district in mind.

There is far more at stake than, for example, shifting a vice-principal to teaching duties or transferring a custodian.

We maintain that the reasoning for the demotion action by the three board members was faulty and was taken without due consideration of its subsequent effect on the district.

We were of that opinion at the time of the demotion last October. Now that the so-called reasons for the action have been made public, we reiterate it.

We consider the reasons cited in Dr. MacQuiddy's letter mostly mere flimsy generalities. In our opinion, Royer has answered the specific points adequately and satisfactorily.

But, please, don't take our word for it.

Read those so-called charges again.

Read Royer's answers.

Then judge for yourself.

In Dr. MacQuiddy's letter, much emphasis is placed on the fact that Royer did not promote "harmony" in the district. That there had been "lack of harmony" in the relationship of the superintendent and the trustees and that his relationship with the employees had not been "harmonious" and Royer could not restore "harmony" in the district, in the opinion of the three board members.

We think Royer's answer to those accusations are adequate. But we also must emphasize that "harmony" is a nebulous and general term that defies pinpointing or specific defining.

The district cannot afford to have any major decision, such as the demotion, which has had such a harmful effect on the district as a whole, made in an irresponsible manner by its trustees. There is too much at stake.

Judge for yourself.

ing was in progress.

The Council conducted business as usual and no one seemed to mind that there was no radio around blaring forth with a delayed broadcast of the epic event.

Not being an avid fight fan, especially in this instance anyway, we were unconcerned about what was going on in the fight ring some 3000 miles away.

We figured we would learn the results after the Council meeting was over, which would be soon enough to suit us.

So when Councilman Bill Podgorsek held up a hand-lettered sign "Frazier wins in 15th", we were really mystified because (1) no one had left the room; (2) Podgorsek hasn't clairvoyant powers; (3) no radio was visible.

But we learned that there had been a radio present. It was one of those very inconspicuous types that almost fits in one's hand and with an ear-plug.

Art Kee, the city's planning director, had been able to get the round-by-round report in a very unobtrusive manner and thus had been able to pass the information on to Bill.

Art did miss a couple of rounds, however.

There were some planning matters to attend to.

-0-

MANY OF THE ITEMS that come before the City Council during a meeting are routine, as you must surmise.

One of the routine matters at a recent City Council session concerned the final approval of a tract map which had gone through all the necessary preliminary steps previously.

The map had already been approved when Councilman Ralph Doetsch called attention to the location that was specified on the office memo that accompanied the map for informational purposes.

It specified that the tract was located "south of Sahadi's trailer park on West Valley Drive".

The office had put down the wrong location .

The tract in question was on Hamilton Ave. quite a "fur piece" from the trailer park.... About two miles anyway.

His fellow-councilmen are now calling Ralph "ole Eagle Eye".

ENVIRONMENTAL-CONscious residents of San Jose last year, according to a report submitted to the City Council by Bill Wren, Campbell's public works director, objected last year to the use of "Malaic Hydrazide" in the pruning of trees.

The chemical was used by the firm that has the contract with PG&E to top the trees to clear the wires.

Because our knowledge of chemistry is less than limited, "Malaic Hydrazide" meant less than nothing to us.

We learned from the letter submitted to Wren from the Davey Tree Surgery Company, the firm that has the line-clearing contract, that a water soluble malaic hydrazide formulation is used as a growth inhibitor spray on trees to maintain tree clearance for the power lines.

The ratio of the spray is one gallon of the chemical to 100 gallons of water and is applied at the rate of four to 10 gallons per tree.

It is claimed that it has a very low "ingested toxicity and dermal response rating."

That sounds impressive enough.

THE FIRM HAS REquested permission to do its tree-stunting job in Campbell this year.

Councilman Ed Rogers, whose long-record of tree-consciousness is well established, expressed some concern over what damaging after-effect the spraying might have on the trees and also what damage might be done to other vegetation in the neighborhood.

Councilman Ralph Doetsch, who still considers his main occupation that of an orchardist and is an old hand at spraying, pointed out that spraying always causes a mist that descends in the immediate area.

He, too, wondered what effect the mist would have.

He suggested that, if it would stunt the growth of lawns or shrubs, it might prove quite unpopular with the residents.

Wren assured the Council that the practice had been thoroughly researched at U.C. Davis and that apparently those who had objected to the process last year, were now satisfied.

Wren added that representatives from the Davey Tree Service would appear at a future Council meeting to further explain the matter.

It was agreed that would be a good idea.

So another "growth problem" now faces the City.

Forums attract board hopefuls

Candidates for the Campbell Union (elementary) School District board will have their second opportunity to make their positions known at a forum that will be held at Cypress School next Wednesday, March 24.

The first of four such forums that have been scheduled took place last night, Tuesday (after press time) at Forest Hill School.

On Thursday, April 1, Blackford Home and School Club is sponsoring a candidates' night at Blackford School and on Tuesday, April 15, the CETA is sponsoring one at Castlemont School.

There are five candidates seeking the two places that are open on the board. They include Jim Gilliland, Dr. Richard MacQuiddy, incumbents; Dr. Robert L. King, Bob Lemmerman and Dr. Ralph Anderson.

Morgan fund gains support from all sides

Including $249 that was contributed by the St. Lucy's Youth Council from proceeds of the car wash staged last Saturday, total contributions to the "John Morgan Fund" have now climbed past the $4000 mark, Sgt. John B. Butler reported this week, with Police Capt. Don Burr, acting police chief, and City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan and Butler administering the fund.

The fund was established to help the family defray medical expenses not covered by insurance.

John Morgan

Pol. Chief John Morgan was stricken by a cerebral hemorrhage on Feb. 13, more than a month ago, and still remains in the same grave critical condition, requiring special nurses around the clock.

The fund has been set up at both branches of the Bank of America in town (The PruneYard and 125 E. Campbell Ave.) and contributions will also be accepted by any police officer and at the city hall.

The fund is expected to be benefited greatly in the next several weeks through the generosity of two local firms.

Ward Pinther, of the Straw Hat, at San Tomas Road and Campbell Avenue, has announced that he will set aside 25% of the proceeds of the business at his place on Thursday, March 25, for the fund.

Luoto's, in the Campbell Plaza, announced this week that all the proceeds from a buffet that will be served from noon until 10 p.m. on Monday, March 29, at the popular restaurant, will go to the John Morgan Fund.

Mrs. Bobbie Luoto said that tickets at $3 each will be sold for the buffet and can be obtained at Luoto's, from any Campbell police officer, at the Campbell Sporting Goods, or from deputy sheriffs.

the present 85-cent rate.

The Council is expected to take the request under advisement for research and study.

The Council next Monday is also expected to take action on the salary schedule for members of the Campbell Fire Department.

Through their union officials, the firemen have been negotiating with the City for several months.

Most of the items of salary disagreement, City Manager Bob Stephens has reported, have been worked out. One stickler remains, Stephens added, however, and that is whether the salary schedule of the firemen should be retroactive to Feb. 1.

Several councilmen have indicated they opposed the retroactive idea because the delay in adopting the salary schedule was caused by the firemen and not the city.

Mac Martinez seeks election as high school board member

Manuel (Mac) Martinez, 45, of 1195 Holmes Ave., Campbell, language arts division chairman at West Valley College, a candidate for the board of trustees of the Campbell Union High School District in the April 20 election, believes that he can serve the interests of all the people because of his varied background.

Martinez, a graduate of San Jose State, and his wife, Ruth, have resided on Holmes Ave. for the past 15 years. They have four school-age children, Calvin, 13; Jeni, 11; Brian, 8; and Denise, 6.

In his statement of candidacy Martinez said: "I have decided to run for the governing board of the Campbell Union High School, because I recognize the obligation I have to my community, my school district, and my fellow citizens. The time of my accountability is here -- this country has invested a lot in me.

"In view of my many years of experience as a teacher, as a coach, as youth counselor, as member of the board of directors of various civic organizations, I believe that I can serve the interests of all the people and further that I have an obligation to make my experience and service available to my community."

Martinez, who was born in Scotts Bluff, Neb., but grew up in Turlock, Calif., has been at West Valley College since 1964. Before coming to West Valley as one of the original faculty members, he had taught six years at Lincoln High School in San Jose and at Woodrow Wilson Junior High prior to that.

Martinez attended Modesto Junior College prior to attending San Jose State where he received his B.A. degree in Spanish and social science in 1959. He also holds a master's degree from San Jose State and has done graduate work at the University of San Carlos in Guatemala.

While in college, Martinez was an outstanding boxer. He won the National Collegiate Athletic Association 125-lb. title in 1950 and was also AAU champion in his weight class.

In recent years, Martinez has been active in the Police Athletic League and Childrens Home Society. He is a member of the First Covenant Church in San Jose.

There are two offices to be filled on the board on April 20. William L. Murphy, incumbent, has filed for reelection but long-time board member, E. M. (Doc) Arends, who has served since 1952, did not file this year.

If you're an average PG&E home customer, you're paying 18% less per kilowatt hour for electricity than in 1958.

It's a fact. Even with the recent rate increase, the average PG&E home customer pays 18% less per kilowatt hour for electricity than he did 13 years ago. The reasons: several earlier rate decreases and zone adjustments, plus, like other things, electricity is "cheaper by the dozen."

1958. The year the Giants first came to San Francisco.

Sure, your total bill is probably higher today than it was in 1958. But that's because you've added more electrical conveniences and comforts to your home. Yet isn't it nice to know that it's still possible to enjoy these 1971 conveniences at less than 1958 rates.

Pre-school vision checkup offered

A free vision screening program for Campbell area pre-school children will be held from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday, March 21 at Rosemary School, 401 W. Hamilton Ave., Campbell.

Co-sponsored by the Santa Clara County Optometric Society and six area Junior Chamber of Commerce chapters, the program is held annually in conjunction with National Save Your Vision Month, an observance of the American Optometric Assn.

Purpose of the screening project, according to Warren Mine and Ben Woo, coordinators for the co-sponsoring JayCee Districts #4 and #27, is to detect visual handicaps in boys and girls 3 to 6 years old before they enter school.

The program will be conducted by volunteer vision care specialists of the Optometric Society.

The project utilizes the MCT (Modified Clinical Technique) method instead of the Snellen (eye-chart), and has proven to be the most effective of all screening procedures now in practice, according to Mine.

Claude Hautier, president of Cycles Gitane, French bicycle manufacturer, headed a list of special guests who visited the Wheel-Away cycle shop in Campbell recently. Hautier and his wife are on a nationwide tour of U.S. and Canadian dealerships.

Accompanying Hautier on his Campbell visit were Rick Wilson and Jerry Gomes of Campbell, Western distributors for Gitane, and Mel Pinto, East Coast distributor.

Bill Paul and Jerry Bernstein of the local Wheel-Away store, were warmly praised by the French executive for their ultra modern shop and their wide selections of bicycles they have on display locally.

Among the special Gitane bicycles being shown at Wheel-Away is a 15-speed version, designed especially for mountain travel. Another innovation on display here is a side-by-side tandem phaeton with a colorful fringe-lined top.

Branham High

By Roberta George and Mary Watson

"The most successful project this year was the cannister drive for Muscular Dystrophy," stated Pat Cerrera, BHS Key Club treasurer.

The service club ended up collecting over $1,000 which was "the most collected by any Key Club in the valley," he added.

Another important project accomplished this year was the Muscular Dystrophy telethon in San Francisco in which club members and their advisor, Bob Graby, drove up to the "city" and appeared on television.

"Within the hour, most of the pledges had been made," explained Pat, a BHS junior, however, "It takes time and effort!"

Other activities include sponsoring an Asian girl and helping to exercise a child inflicted with multiple sclerosis.

Another service organization, the Branham Booster Club, is holding a Flea Market on March 21 in the Bruin parking lot.

Camden Hi Notes

by Donna St. Cyr

The talent and the imagination of many Camden art students was the source of the PTA's Art Show displayed recently.

By group effort of all art classes, students were able to put forth a successful art show. Not only were paintings and pieces of different art work on display, but also students demonstrated different types, including water color, jewelry making, metal sculpture, clay and rugs.

The art work that was on display at the show was also for sale, with prices running as high as $80. Students sold a variety of types of art work.

A few of the many students demonstrating were: Luca Jenson, painting; Bob Crocker, painting; Linda Kent, rug; Ralph Parsons, drawing; Bob Griffin, painting; Peggy Lopez, painting; Tom Bossard, rug; Glenn Anderson, chess set; and Sue Jacobson, pottery.

These are a few of the many students who put forth time and effort to make the PTA's Art Show an interesting, educational and successful one.

UF budgets 1971 services

Eastfield Children's Center in Campbell, the oldest social service agency in Santa Clara County, will receive $55,000 in financial support for 1971 from the United Fund.

Distribution of the money was made by the Santa Clara County Allocations Committee. The evaluating committee made up of volunteers from throughout the county, made their decisions after nearly four months of conferences with agency representatives.

The Center, located at 251 Llewellyn, provides programs for children and families with emotional problems; an institutional facility for seriously emotionally disturbed children; group homes for children and adolescents, foster homes; day treatment; and out-patient family treatment.

Under the direction of Eric Minkus, the center also provides casework and psychiatric services for children and their parents.

Also funded for 1971 are the Campbell Student, High School and Welfare Funds, which will receive a total of $2,750.

Grandy - Fuller

When Becky Lynn Grandy became the bride of John Ralph Fuller at St. Lucy's Church, she wore a gown of her own design, and her mother's work.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Grandy, 1345 Virginia, Becky carried a bouquet of baby white roses, stephanotis and heather. Her lutesong-polyester empire style gown had full sleeves and a mandarin collar. The bodice and cuffs were covered with lace and the chapel veil was edged in lace matching the gown.

Sue Herman served her friend as maid of honor wearing a lavender gown. Bridesmaids Barbara Locke and Joyce Green wore matching gowns.

Becky, a 1970 graduate of Campbell High School, and John, a '69 graduate, greeted guests at a reception at 17 West in San Jose before departing for a wedding trip to Yosemite and southern California, where they will make their home near Camp Pendleton, where John is stationed in the U.S. Marine Corps.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Ramey, 187 Carlyn Ave. His best man was John Havens. Ushers were Clark Evans and Ian Nyquist.

Telena - Kelly

Toni Jean Telena wore a satin-faced organza gown when Father Victor M. Mosele united her with Michael Francis Kelly at St. Francis Cabrini Church recently.

Toni Jean, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, Joseph D. Serna, was preceded by Bradley Bock, who wore a long red empire dress. Other attendants were Gail Ann Martinez, a cousin, Kathy and Linda Kelly, sisters of the groom and Camille Jacques, a cousin.

Her groom was attended by Dan O'Connell. Ushers were Tim Kelly, Jerry Kleiwer, Joe Nickel and Joe Telena.

A graduate of Leigh High School, Toni also attended San Jose City College, while her groom attended Mitty High.

Mrs. Rudolph Louie, mother of the bride, attended wearing an orchid and silver dress with pearl trimming.

Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Kelly. His mother wore a pink chiffon dress for her son's wedding.

The newlyweds' reception was held at Serbian Orthodox Eastern Hall in Saratoga, which was decorated in red and white carnations.

Rickey is guild guest Thursday

The Campbell Artist's Guild will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, March 18, at Campbell Country Woman's Club, Campbell Avenue at First Street, at 7:30 p.m.

The guest speaker will be Paul Rickey who will demonstrate a line drawing using a live model. Rickey has studied at New York University, studied and member of Art Students League, New York City, John Herron Art Institute, Indianapolis, Ind. and graduate work at Santa Cruz University and San Jose State.

At present he is teaching life drawing at Mt. Pleasant High School adult education.

The public is invited to attend.

Colleges hold three art shows

The first annual art exhibit of community colleges of California, sponsored by West Valley College, will be held during the month of May.

During that time, works of art by instructors of California's community colleges, will be exhibited at three exhibit halls in the area. Oil, acrylic and sculpture will be shown at the Triton Museum in Santa Clara; mixed media will be on display at West Valley College's Art Gallery; and Villa Montalvo in Saratoga will house the water colors.

Each participating community college will be able to enter from one to five works in each of the three categories. Three $250 awards of merit will be awarded by a selected panel of jurors.

It is hoped that this first exhibit will become a statewide showcase of the creativity and quality of work done among community college artists, and will continue each year.

CANDY SALES---Mrs. Peter Cirivilleri makes a candy purchase from James Berryessa and Kim Tacchini, St. Lucy's School students. The parochial school students are selling candy as part of a fund raising project under the chairmanship of Mrs. David Tacchini and Mrs. Melvin Berryessa.

Foster homes sought by Eastfield director

Foster homes are needed for several youngsters in the 8 to 13-year age group, it was announced today by Eric Minkus, executive director for Eastfield Children's Center.

These youngsters were placed in the Campbell residential treatment program because their problems prevented them from being able to function within the community. The special care administered by professional staff has helped them learn to cope with problems and pressures, and now they are ready to leave.

Because some of them have no families and others come from families unable to care for them, they must go into foster homes.

Eastfield foster homes receive the same board rate as Santa Clara County Department of Social Services foster homes and are given the support of Eastfield professional staff. Only long-term foster homes are needed.

Persons interested should write to Eastfield Children's Center, 251 Llewellyn Ave., Campbell, or call 379-3790 from 3:30 a.m. until 5 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Eastfield, which cares for children from all parts of Santa Clara County, receives support from the United Fund, fees, bequests, and gifts. The program encompasses five types of care for emotionally disturbed children – residential, foster home, group home, day, and out-patient.

Unscheduled arrival

Mrs. Chuck Petersen, 1570 Archer Court, is at home enjoying her new son, James Jason, this week.

James was born at 12:13 a.m. on Thursday, March 11 and weighed 8 lbs., 9 oz.

James' birth certificate is to read slightly different than the average. Attending physician will be listed as "mother".

No, Mrs. Petersen isn't a doctor. But she did the delivering---all by herself.

While her husband took their 2 year old to a sitter, in anticipation of a visit to the hospital, Mrs. Petersen found she couldn't wait for his return, so James Jason was born at home, and then took a trip by ambulance to Kaiser Hospital!

Mother and baby are doing fine.

Hospital slates basketball game with KLIV Prunes at Blackford

An unusual basketball game will be held at Blackford High School on Thursday, March 25 at 8 p.m.

The teams competing will be from Campbell Community Hospital and KLIV.

KLIV, which calls their group the KLIV Prunes, has been playing games for about five years and has a better than average win record.

The team consisting of four of the station's disc jockeys, and seven "regulars", plays principally for high school events and charity fund raisings.

Regulars are Dave Parola, Steve Blazer, Bruce Asch, Ed Huse, Chris Dempsey, S.T. Saffold and Nat Branch of the Harlem Globetrotters.

Disc jockey team members are Jim Braden, news and sports director of KLIV, Tom Barry, John McLoud and Ross McGowan. Referee is Pat Cavataio.

FUND CONTRIBUTION

Members of Campbell Union School District's employees association (CSEA, Chapter 78) have contributed to the Roger Garcia fund. Roger attended Rosemary and Campbell elementary schools, as well as Campbell High School.

Social Side

GOODWILL DONATIONS- Mrs. Jane Peterson of 113 Cherry Lane, presents a check to Margaret McGowan, member of the Board of Governors of Goodwill Industries, on behalf of the Willow Glen Business and Professional Women's Club. The "Seed Money" which will generate matching funds from Federal grants which will help train people in clerical, bookkeeping, food services, janitorial, machine shop and electronics assembly.

YOUNG ECOLOGISTS--- Three boys who were looking for a project to satisfy a Scout badge requirement have ended up getting a lot of others interested in their slated project. Paul Hawkins, Bryan Lamy and Ed Ring, in addition to being Scouts, are also members of First United Methodist Church and discovered some landscaping was sorely needed at the rear of the nursery school yard on Winchester Blvd. A nearby construction job yielded some extra dirt and the group was off and digging. Left to right are Jim Lovell, Toninette Boltz, Paul Hawkins, Bryan Lamy, Lorie MacDonald, Julie Weedman, Margaret Miller and Ed Ring.

Planners deny building sign

Ruling that the sign was too large and on the wrong side of the building, the Planning Commission on Monday night "denied" the sign of Plog Service Co. and B & B Plumbing that appears on the building at 100 S. Gilman Ave. The action was somewhat anticlimactical inasmuch as the sign exists.

The sign, which faces the creek and freeway, was put up without a permit, according to Art Kee, planning director. After the company was notified of the violation, a permit was applied for and denied by the planning director. The firm then appealed to the Planning Commission. And that was what the Commission denied.

One of the items that is on the agenda for the joint meeting of the Council and Planning Commission on March 29 will be a review of the sign ordinance, especially for the creek area.

The Commission on Monday night also denied the application of L. R. Meeks and C. Bowling for a contractor's storage yard at 279 and 285 Dillon Avenue.

The Commission continued action on the application of Wilburden Construction Co. for a warehouse at 645 McGlincey and that of Sherrel Kirk for a warehouse at 60 and 66 Dillon.

Approval was given Robert J. Zipse for a warehouse and office at 75 Cristich Lane and to Frank S. Cali of a four-unit apartment on West Valley Drive.

BASCOM STRIP

(CNA)—In its continuing purchase of right-of-way for the widening of S. Bascom avenue all the way from San Jose through Campbell to Los Gatos, the Board of Supervisors recently purchased still another strip.

It was a total of 1,437 square feet owned by David Gutierez at 14589 S. Bascom avenue, Los Gatos, at a cost of $2,940 including improvements. On a per-acre basis, this price would be $73,181.

Library files uncovered note under "mystery"

Could there be a leprechaun?
Or perhaps an elf?
A gnome?
Poltergeist?
Mouse?

At any rate, someone, or someTHING put a "special" little note in the files of the Campbell Library.

It's where it was filed that kind of boggles the mind.

The note was found by Campbell Librarian Beverly Booth, filed neatly under "disasters."

It went something like this:

"Campbell Library is another city disaster.

"If you'll notice the hinges of the old creeky doors and the old witches that run it.

"No wonder it's free". (Editor's note: no taxpayer wrote THAT.)

The letter went on with some vampirish claims and was completed "I've said my peace. 1-21-71."

Maybe the person who filed it really did have the right classification.

The letter was kind of a disaster.

New ad agency promotes service

There's a new sale promotion agency in the Santa Clara Valley serving the Bay Area. Ryan, Robert, Darwin Inc. specializes in the development of sales promotion and marketing services programs.

The new company was incorporated February 1, 1971 by Darrell Monda, Robert Baptiste and Thomas Ryan.

The new corporation has a five member board of directors and starts with five full time employees and 10 accounts.

The company's offices are located at The Towers in The PruneYard, 1901 S. Bascom Ave., Campbell. The phone number is 408-377-4504.

The new company is founded on a growing awareness of the need for sales promotion programs as an integral part of the client's total marketing strategy.

Ryan, Robert, Darwin Inc. will be working with new clients on a project basis for the development of corporate image programs, capability brochures, point-of-purchase material and demonstrations and exhibitions, press publicity, presentation kits, training manuals, direct-mail programs, merchandise surveys, etc.

AUDITIONERS --- Hopefuls who auditioned for the Children's Metropolitan Operetta Guild's production of "Finian's Rainbow" included (left to right) Bruce Horti, Karyn Peterman, Lauri Stein and Lauri Balkow. The musical will be presented the first three weekends in May at Old Town Theater in Los Gatos. The Guild's prime purpose is to introduce youth to the live theater.

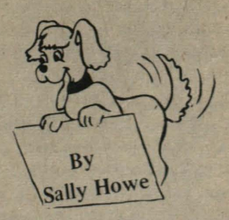
Bringing up fido



I recently was treated to a rather gory story about a dog who was left on a "sit" in a public park while the owner went to get an article from his car. In moving to his car, the owner could not see the dog and upon his return found a perfect stranger physically abusing the dog.

The reason (if any) for this strange action is unimportant, since it seems the attack was unprovoked.

But, the dog's owner broke an important rule: NEVER LET YOUR DOG OUT OF YOUR SIGHT in public.

Naturally, hunters' dogs and farm dogs must leave their owners to properly do their jobs.

But a dog left unattended in an unlocked car, outside a store, on the beach, can be prey for a twisted or sick mind.

A dog is sometimes as much or more responsibility than a small child, partly because he can't "cry" or "yell" so that anyone knows what is happening to him.

Add to this the fact that our laws seem to be written so that a dog who is not on his owner's property has no be shot, beaten, or claimed.

And, I'm not in total disagreement with such laws. The property owner has the right to defend his property and his family from the vicious marauder, the sick or perhaps rabid dog, or the neighborhood nuisance.

It is more than a little upsetting when you see a motorist make no attempt to slow down for the poor little vagabond who is making his way across the street or hear from the dog's owner such unbelievable statements as "the dumb dog should know better than to cross the street."

So, the lesson for today is: lock the car (but crank down the tops of the windows), latch the gate (so an unwary meter reader doesn't accidentally let Fido out), and don't go off and leave your dog unattended – ANYWHERE.

Dramatic events shape history of old mining town of Shasta

Indian raids and hangings are among the dramatic events that shaped the history of the old mining town of Shasta in northern California. The town, now a State Historical Monument, is located on Highway 299 in the foothills about six miles west of Redding.

Brick ruins with iron doors border the highway. Old frame houses, once the homes of pioneers and still used as residences, are scattered back from the highway, hidden among fig trees, manzanita and chapparal.

Shasta is the oldest town in the far northern part of California and was once the seat of Shasta County says the California State Automobile Association. Its brick courthouse has been restored and is used as an art gallery, museum and monument headquarters. An immaculate stagecoach used by the Northern Trinity Stage Co. stands on the front porch.

Inside are pictures, exhibits and relics of the past. The courtroom, sheriff's office, jail and back-porch gallows have been restored.

Gold was discovered in 1848, miners flocked in and it became an important distribution center for supplies to the vast mining empire of Trinity, Scott and Salmon rivers. Over 2,000 mules trudged back and forth over the mountains, hauling supplies to the northern mines and gold back to town.

In 1850 the name was changed to Shasta and it became the county seat. Fires in 1852 and 1853 destroyed the business center. The brick shells are all that remain of the town after the 1878 fire that swept both sides of Main Street.

During the early years of Shasta, Indians raided the mining camp and warriors decked out in paint and feathers danced in the main street. Several headstones in the hillside cemeteries bear the inscription "Killed by Indians."

The decline of Shasta began in the late 1850's when the Central Pacific Railroad decided to run its rails into Redding instead of Shasta and the gold mines began to fail.

Another boom is now going on just up the road from the old town of Shasta. Whiskeytown Reservoir flanks the main highway. This is part of the Trinity River Project, and serves as a catch basin for surplus water that must be diverted away from the main Trinity Lake basin.

Its creation wiped out the last remains of Whiskeytown, another relic of the 1850's

Sailboaters favor the waters of Whiskeytown Reservoir which also has good swimming beaches and boat launching ramps for pleasure boating and for fishermen who go after the planted rainbow and brown trout and large and smallmouth black bass.

The view area beside Whiskeytown Dam provided a panorama of some of the lakes' 36-miles of shoreline and distant snow covered Mt. Shasta. The earth and rockfill dam rises 281 feet from the creek bottom.

Campers will find Oak Bottom campgrounds, 13 miles West of Redding on SSR 229, one of the favorite spots for putting up a tent. The 20 acres provides 97 tent sites and is located in the Whisleytown - Shasta - Trinity National Recreation Area.

DARTING AROUND

with Tom Carroll

Tis the wearin o' the green day and some of the matches scheduled for tonight were either played last night or postponed to later in the week so as not to interfere with traditional Saint Paddy's day events.

The wildest party of all should be in San Francisco at the Abbey Tavern, a pub that has nothing but Irish music on the juke box. The Abbey also has Irish dancing to live Irish bands on the weekend. The pub sponsors five dart teams with captains Mike Roche, Maura McGurk, Pat O'Connor and Fred Reiser.

In this area a good Irish blast will be held at the Black Watch in Los Gatos. A Scotch pub run by a good "Irishman", Tony Enzalone, with a dart team of some Irish names like Quinn, Warren, Crough, Doron and Hogan. Toss in a Parr, Rovai, Williamson and Christianson and you have the rest of the team.

The back room of the Black Watch has been fixed up nicely for darts. Using a double lighting system, there are virtually no shadows on the surface of the dart board.

WEEKLY TOURNAMENTS

On the other side of Los Gatos, the Lancashire Lad has installed a similar lighting system on their boards before announcing a new prize for their Saturday night tournaments. The winner each week will receive a gold plated dart trophy. If a darter wins four of these trophies he may trade them for a larger trophy. This is in addition to the regular prizes.

A new dart location in the area is the Zebra Hut, 577 W. Alma, San Jose. It really isn't new as it is the former Jolly Roger, a pub that sponsored dart teams in the past. New owner, Clyde Smith, in expanding dart activities at the Zebra Hut, has started a Friday night open dart tournament and hopes to field a team in the summer season of games.

BRITISH-AMERICAN TROPHY

On Sunday, March 21, at 8 p.m. the periodic contest for the British-American trophy will take place at the Lord Nelson, 970 Sutter St., San Francisco. Select teams representing both sides will compete for a handsome plaque and a considerable amount of ancestral pride.

Prior to the British-American competition, the Lord Nelson will hold a singles tournament for a set of silver darts at 3 p.m.

LEAGUE PLAY

The team to watch in Campbell is the Black Knight II. Team Captain Rich Spelts, who played for the Gaslighter Theater II in the Fall-Winter games, is the only member of the team to have played in league competition in last Wednesday's match with Primrose Lanes III, every member of the team shot a ton (100) or better, to take the match 9-3.

Rick James was the hot rod of the evening shooting a 106 away in his first game and winning his second game with a 132 out. Spelts popped a 120 away, with the opposition's Dick Evans popping a 121.

Black Knight I went down in defeat at the hands of the Black Watch, 8-4. The Black Watch wins were hi-lited with 13, 14 and 16 dart games. Willy Buhl of Knight I had a 94 our (a triple 18, double 20).

Gaslighter Theater II won their match with Lancashire Lad III, 7-5, but their other two teams lost; Gaslighter III to Harold's Club, 10-2, and Gaslighter IV to Andy Capps, 7-5.

Scarlett La Rue's tied the Dutch Goose, 6-6. This was also the score of the Lancashire Lad I - Scuttlebutt match.

The other two Lad teams also went down in defeat. Lad II losing 7-5 to Primrose Lanes I and the all-girls team, Lad IV, dropping their match to Banbury Clock II, 8-4.

Banbury Clock I blitzed Primrose Lanes II, 9-3.

Remember, only use green flites on your darts tonight or the leprechauns will bedevil your game.

Now that I'm a newspaperman — you're doggone right I'm a newspaperman, they're printing my column aren't they?

If you read this one it'll be the sixth week in a row. The kids are beginning to call me "Scoop" around the house. I type with all ten fingers, but except for that one failing I act and talk just like all the big time newsguys. At least I act and talk like I THINK all the big time newsguys do. Like I remember the way they used to do it in the movies. I've even begun to drink a little.

Well, as I was saying, now that I'm a newspaperman, Mary Lou and I were talking and wondering how the Editors decide to pay the various employees. Like, does Herb Caen make more than Ron Fimrite on the Chronicle? And if he does, is it because he has more readers, or is it because his column is closer to the first page?

It seems to me that the only fair way to decide who should be the best paid is to do a reader survey and the one who gets the highest rating on the polls should get the highest salary, don't you agree?

And if the pay is proportional to the number of readers, does that include the number of articles written. I mean, would a guy who writes more lines, but who is read only half as much, get a bonus because he works harder? Or does the guy who only writes a little bit, but it is that little bit which everybody reads, get the bonus because he has a greater talent? I wish I knew, because then I would know whether to make the column longer and duller or shorter and better...It's a puzzlement.

What I really want to know, Mr. Editor, is who gets the highest pay — the guy who does the legal notices, or the guy who writes the personals?

County official reminds all of property tax deadline, April 12

Edward N. Glaeser, County Director of Finance, reports there are still unpaid real estate taxes amounting to over $140,000,000.

These taxes are now due and payable and must be paid by April 12, 1971 to avoid payment of the 6 per cent penalty.

Have you received your tax bill?

If you have not received your tax bill or by chance have misplaced it, you can call 299-2241 to obtain a bill so that your taxes may be paid on or before April 12.

"Failure to receive a tax bill does not relieve the property owner of the payment of penalty if the taxes become delinquent," Glaeser said. "If a bank or loan company pays your taxes you need not make a request."

He explained that the majority of tax delinquencies occur during the first year of ownership of property.

"If you are a new owner, you can determine what taxes are paid by checking your escrow papers," Glaeser stated. "Be sure you understand the following three important points:

1. That the second installment taxes may be unpaid because only the first installment was paid during escrow.
2. Whether the property owner or his lending agency is to pay his taxes.
3. That property is subject to taxes even if a bill has not been received."

The Tax Collector's office under L. E. Engeman, Assistant Finance Director, suggests mailing tax payment several days prior to April 12 to assure a postmark on or before April 12, 1971.

Payments postmarked after April 12 will be returned to the taxpayer and will require the additional payment of the 6 per cent penalty and $3.00 cost per parcel in accordance with State Law.

Kiwanis Club starts drive to get stricter drug regulation laws

Aiming at the heart of the problem, the Kiwanis Club of Campbell and the California-Nevada-Hawaii District of Kiwanis International are calling for laws to strictly regulate the manufacture and shipment of dangerous drugs, according to Ken Mantle, club president.

Kiwanians are seeking the support of all concerned citizens in the move to strike a severe blow on the illicit drug market by circulating petitions in the area.

These petitions, urging legislators to put teeth into drug laws are being completed by every local Kiwanis Club in the state of California. They will then be taken to the State Capitol as part of the "Kiwanis Day With Our Legislators" on May 5, 1971, and presented to Governor Ronald Reagan.

The Kiwanis resolution notes that the manufacture of "hypnotics and stimulants far exceeds the legitimate medical demand and these drugs often are shipped to unethical drug houses and consignees other than medical or professional persons."

Kiwanians want the campaign to lead to tough federal laws governing excessive manufacturing and shipping of hypnotics and stimulants, Alexander said.

Petitions for the area will be at the following locations, with members of the Kiwanis Club available for further discussion: Tom State, First National Bank; Phil Baker, Stivers Insurance Agency; Chuck DeVries, Valley Medical Center; Steve Goodman, Sanitation District No. 4; Len Edholm, Campbell Chamber of Commerce.

EDGAR CAYCE'S STORY OF KARMA, by Mary Ann Woodward (291.23 - Non-Fiction)

Why is one child born to riches and love, another to poverty and rejection? Why is one a genius, the next retarded? How do we come by our attitudes and emotions? What determines the state of our family relationships? Of marriage? Why are some afflicted by disease and alcoholism? Edgar Cayce, world renowned psychic and prophet, answers, "We and we alone are responsible for what we are and our condition on earth." We have made our present, and we are continuously making our future. Here is the story of Karma, the force generated by your personal actions which can bless or plague you through many lifetimes. This is the story of Edgar Cayce's theory of Karma.

KITE FLYING SAFETY--The do's and don'ts of safe kite flying are explained to this group of youngsters by Paul Markiewitz, a Pacific Gas and Electric Company electric department foreman. He is telling the youngsters never to use metal in any part of the kite or in the string, to fly kites away from powerlines and streets and to observe other rules illustrated in PG&E's kite fun booklet now available free at all PG&E offices.

PG and E kite fun booklet urges flying safety

A smart squirrel named Rocky and his sidekick, a moose named Bullwinkle, teach horrible Boris and Natasha, the secret plan stealing duo, a thing or two about kite flying in the 1971 version of Pacific Gas and Electric Company's kite fun booklet.

The color comic booklet is now available free at all PG&E offices. It provides patterns and instructions for building kites and offers puzzles and games for boys and girls when it rains and kite flying isn't safe. The booklet is available in quantity for group or school use.

Rocky and Bullwinkle make no secret of eight rules for kite flying safety that they want "leaked" to Boris and Natasha:

1. Always use dry string, not wire or anything metallic.
2. Always use wood and paper in your kite, not wire or metal.
3. Always fly your kite on days when there is no rain.
4. Always avoid busy streets or highways while flying your kite.
5. Always fly your kite away from radio and television antennas.
6. Always call PG&E if your kite gets snagged in a power line. Do not pull the string or climb power poles or trees near power lines to free a snagged kite.
7. Always keep away from fallen wires.
8. Always fly your kite far from electric power lines or utility poles.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) When can I expect to get my W-2?

A) Employers are required to issue W-2 statements to their employees by January 31. However, the final date is February 1 this year since January 31 falls on a weekend. Many, however, issue them sooner for the convenience of those employees who are expecting a refund and want to file early.

Q) I was married last year and both my wife and I got a tax package in the mail. If we file a joint return, whose label should we use?

A) Use your name label since the husband's Social Security number is used to identify joint returns. However, you should print your wife's name on the label. Her Social Security number should be entered in the space provided on the return.

Q) If I let IRS compute my tax and I have a refund coming, how long will it take to get it?

A) IRS can compute the tax and issue a refund within 4-5 weeks from the date the return is filed with the service center. Actually, it won't delay a refund by having IRS compute the tax since the computations are checked on all returns we receive.

Q) If you don't have to have a job before you move, can anyone deduct moving expenses under the new law?

A) No, there are still limitations on who can deduct moving expenses even though these limitations are less restrictive. For details, send a post card to your local IRS office and ask for a free copy of Publication 521, Tax Information on Moving Expenses.

You can also find information on moving expenses, as well as many other subjects in Publication No. 17, Your Federal Income Tax. This booklet may be purchased from most IRS offices or the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402, for 75 cents.

Q) What kind of mistakes held up taxpayer refunds last year?

A) Refunds were delayed when taxpayers had to be contacted to supply information they forgot to include—or listed incorrectly—when they filed their Form 1040's. Missing W-2 forms, missing signatures, and missing or inaccurate Social Security numbers were some of the major types of errors.

Q) The name label is on the front cover of the instruction package this year instead of where it used to be on the Form 1040. Why the change?

A) To reduce costs and add flexibility to printing procedures. To put the name label on the Form 1040 required the cover of the package to have a cut-out space. The cutting added to the cost of the package to the printer and also limited the number of printers who could supply the packages.

Before the present system was adopted, it was tested successfully last year in several parts of the country.

Q) I have a partial scholarship that covers some of my college costs. Do I have to report this as income?

A) Most scholarships are not taxable and do not have to be reported. Since there are many different types of scholarships, check with the organization that gave it to you for information on its tax status. Details can be found in Publication 507, Tax Information on Scholarships and Fellowships, available free by sending a post card to your local IRS office.

Q) What taxes can I deduct on my return?

A) If you itemize deductions, then your state and local income taxes, personal property, real estate, general sales and state and local gasoline taxes may be deducted. List these on Schedule A, Itemized Deductions.

Federal taxes such as Social Security tax or those on alcohol or tobacco are not deductible. Hunting licenses, driver's licenses or auto inspection fees are also not deductible.

Q) What are the new tax rates for single people? I can't find them in the 1040 instructions.

A) These rates go into effect for the 1971 tax year and therefore do not affect the 1970 tax forms and packages that were just mailed out.

The new withholding schedules just issued to employers do incorporate the rates for single people, however.

Are You Operating Your Business Under A Fictitious Name?

If So You Must Re-Register it Now!

New Law in effect:

A prediction that 300,000 firms doing business in California under fictitious trade names will re-file under the new fictitious firm name law was made this week by William G. Sharp, county clerk of Los Angeles County. Sharp is chairman of a committee of county clerks which has been preparing procedures for the new statute.

The new requirement for re-filing of all firm names goes into effect July 1, 1971, but Sharp said the filings will be accepted by the county clerk's offices beginning Monday, and he urged early filing in order to avoid the rush just before the July 1 deadline. The filing fee under the new law will be $10. Filings must be renewed hereafter at five year intervals.

The Los Angeles county clerk also pointed out that the historic publication requirement has been continued under the new law and that publication of the statement once a week for four successive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the neighborhood of the affected business is required whenever there has been any change in the information contained in the certificate previously filed. Publication will not be required in instances where there has been no change in the information carried in the old certificate.

A fictitious name, Sharp pointed out, is one that does not include the surname of the operator or one that implies the existence of other owners; or, if a corporation, if it includes a name other than the name given in the articles of incorporation.

The purpose of the fictitious business name procedure is to protect the consumer in enabling him to find out the person with whom he is really dealing, Sharp said. If he has been defrauded by the "John Doe Television and Time Clock Repair Shop" and the shop is really owned and operated by "Richard Roe" or the "East Ganawanda Land and Farming Corporation," the consumer can find in the fictitious name statement information for bringing suit for damages. The procedure provides a ready source of information concerning identity realities obscured by fictitious business or trade names. Most banks now require evidence that the fictitious filing and publication requirements have been met before they will open an account under a fictitious name.

Refiling Dead-Line July 1, 1971

County Clerk's Filing Fee is $10 for Re-Filing or New Filing*

Publication Charge Will Be $27.00 If Publication Required.

MARCH 17:

On this date in 1947, the USAAF's first multiengined jet bomber, the North American SB-45 powered by four General Electric J-35 engines, flew for the first time.

The term "slapstick" derives from flat pieces of wood that early day comics used to slap each other.

Municpal judge heads first county anti-drug task force

Municipal Court Judge William Fernandez of Sunnyvale will serve as chairman of the first of the series of task forces that will assist County government in coordinating drug abuse programs.

This task force was appointed by County Executive Howard Campen and has been asked to draft within 60 days a statement of the goals and objectives for the county-wide effort to reduce drug abuse.

Other members of the group are: District Attorney Louis P. Bergna; Haskell (Hack) Bowen, director of drug abuse control programs at Campbell Union High School District; Mrs. Ralph Low, secretary of the Children's Health Council Board in Palo Alto and member of the Comprehensive Health Planning Association; Dr. Allan Seid, chairman of the County Medical Society's Subcommittee on Drug Abuse; Serapio Ortiz, supervising addiction specialist at the County Methadone Clinic; Atty. Robert Aguilar, a member of the Juvenile Justice Commission; and Frank Roberts, student at San Jose City College.

Campen is the County official designated by the Board of Supervisors to prepare and oversee a county-wide community drug abuse control program as required by new State law. He prepared a plan which was approved by the Board of Supervisors and has been submitted to the State Human Relations agency.

The Board of Supervisors has authorized filing an application to the California Council on Criminal Justice requesting $49,861 for Federal Crime Control Act funds to support the anti-drug abuse effort. Until this money is received, Campen has assigned Robert Garner to assist the new task force.

Garner, a recent addition to the County Executive's staff, is a 1965 Stanford graduate who returned to California after serving three years in Washington, D.C. as Administrative Assistant to Representative John Murphy of New York State. Staff members from county and city agencies, schools, the Social Planning Council and other agencies will also assist the task force.

FROM THE CALIFORNIA HIGHWAY PATROL

In a typical two-day period recently, the California Highway Patrol made 38 arrests of persons charged with felonies, of which 17—almost half—involved illegal possession of narcotics.

Narcotic arrests by the Highway Patrol are occurring with increasing frequency. In January of this year, the total throughout the state was 381; by July the total had risen steadily to 537.

Yet, CHP officers are not assigned to narcotics details. They come unexpectedly upon drug users and transporters in the course of their traffic law enforcement work, often because people using behavior changing drugs, like drunk drivers, betray their condition by erratic actions on the highway.

Consider several of the narcotics arrests made in the two-day period (May 1-2) mentioned above:

—Four young men 18 to 27 years of age were arrested for possession of marijuana after an officer had stopped them for speeding at 85 miles per hour.

—A young couple were arrested when an officer's attention was attracted by the erratic movements of their car. Before he turned on his red light, however, the car stopped abruptly and without apparent reason backed into another vehicle. Marijuana and pills were found in the vehicle.

—Two young men were observed on a major freeway with the driver in poor control of the car. Stopped for failure to drive in a single lane, both were found to be in possession of marijuana.

—A 21-year-old man was arrested for possession of marijuana found in his jacket by a hospital nurse after he was injured in a traffic accident.

These were "routine" cases, but it isn't always that way.

For instance, in April a CHP officer stopped a vehicle for excessive exhaust emissions, and immediately noted the driver appeared to be under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

When the officer inventoried the vehicle before taking the driver to jail he discovered two loaded handguns under the seat, two rifles, a hypodermics kit and a large number of pills. The driver was an ex-convict and narcotics addict who was wanted for investigation of armed robbery.

On another occasion, two CHP officers working the graveyard shift observed a car that aroused their suspicions. Their radio dispatcher informed them the car's license plates had been stolen.

Summoning a county sheriff's unit for assistance, the CHP officers made the stop and took two men and two women into custody. They also found in the car an extensive quantity of seconal, morphine, phenobarbital, and benzedrine—about 15,000 capsules and pills—four hypodermic syringes and needles, five "bindles" of grayish powder, three loaded handguns and extra ammunition.

The car's occupants acknowledged they had been involved in an armed robbery of a pharmacy.

The larger the amount of narcotics being transported, the more likely the occupants of the vehicle are to be heavily armed, seasoned Patrol officers report.

When the vehicle is weaving, following too close, speeding, or making unsafe lane changes because the driver is under the influence of narcotics, the immediate danger is to occupants of other vehicles on the highway.

When the vehicle is stolen, the danger is to the arresting officers.

In any case, the job of the California Highway Patrol is to remove the hazard from the highways, with the least injury or loss of life possible.

County gets bids on March 18 for huge building job

Bids will be opened at 2 p.m. March 18 for the biggest single construction project in County history, the Board of Supervisors has decided.

It's the huge County Service Center, to cost between $11,000,000 and $12,000,000 and to be located on a 20-acre site in a three-building complex at the Old Oakland Highway and Schallenbarger Rd., adjacent to the current Corporation Yard complex.

Another first for the project is that it will house MAC—Monitoring Automation Center, a telemetering network, which would eliminate by 80 per cent the need for humans to constantly check county buildings and equipment.

Site work is already nearing completion, James T. Pott, public works director, told the Board.

The three-building complex will house a number of county departments now scattered hither and yon, in small buildings, converted residences, in closet-like spaces in current government offices, and will provide "necessary elbow room" according to Tevis Dooley Jr., county managing architect.

Included will be a combination one-story warehouse and two-story office building, a three-story office building and a one-story shop. The first two units will be completed within 14 months of letting of bids, and the office building will take 18 months to complete, Dooley said.

Bealer to attend convention of independent businessmen

Edward H. Bealer, vice-president of West Valley Insurance Agency, Inc. of 2275 S. Winchester Blvd., Campbell, will participate in the first national convention in the 28 year old history of the National Federation of Independent Business in Washington, D. C. May 16-19.

Around 1,500 independent businessmen from all 50 states are expected to participate in the three days of sessions being held under the title of "Independent Business Speaks Out" to coincide with the National Small Business Week being proclaimed by President Richard Nixon. The President is also scheduled to be the speaker at the banquet on the final evening of the conference.

All the participants will bring to the Washington conference for discussion with government policy makers the problems of independent enterprise in their respective localities and formulate a course of action to solve these problems.

Bealer started his business in 1949, with no prior business experience. To save on overhead, he shared his office with an attorney at law, and worked a swing shift in an electronics firm, and in the day time worked on the insurance business. By 1965, when he sold part of the business, because of health reasons, he had worked up to a sizeable gross business.

Bealer believes the young men of today do not have the same opportunity to start their own businesses as he had, because of the paper work and red tape that is almost prohibitive to small business.

Cutting the taxes on inventory stock and allowing more deductions on income tax for small businessmen, he feels are much needed reforms.

Bealer is district chairman for the National Federation of Independent Business and now resides in Santa Cruz.
